Get COConnected and build your village of support so you can focus on the joys of parenting - or at least have someone to go through it with you! While parents are superheroes, we all need a league of supporters. Get connected with tips and tools at coconnected.org

Asking for help
isn't always easy.
So ask for backup instead.

We all want to live in a community where neighbors are connected, where we reach out for help whenever we need it, and where nearby friends are part of our village, working with us to raise our kids.

Parenting is not easy, but we don't have to do it alone. Need backup? Say so.
